Each year the world celebrates International Women's Day, which is dedicated to all women wherever they live, whatever their conditions. International Women's Day was created by the United Nations to promote and protect the equal rights of women and to celebrate the courage and determination of ordinary women who play extraordinary roles in our community.

Hanson Mataskelekele was a teacher and former first lady who advanced women's rights and women's leadership. Andy Lynch was a strong advocate for equality and particularly for people living with disability.
